Lets first Look at the Google Oauth 2.0 Flow .

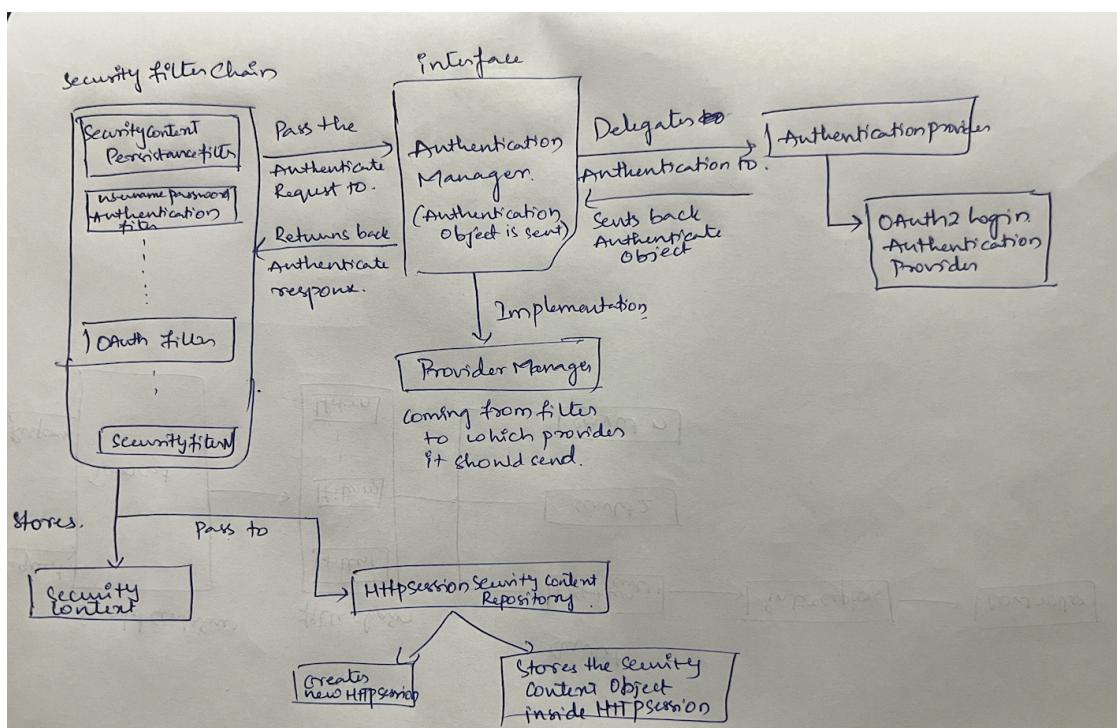

Now let's look at the general flow of how requests flow from tomcat to the controller .

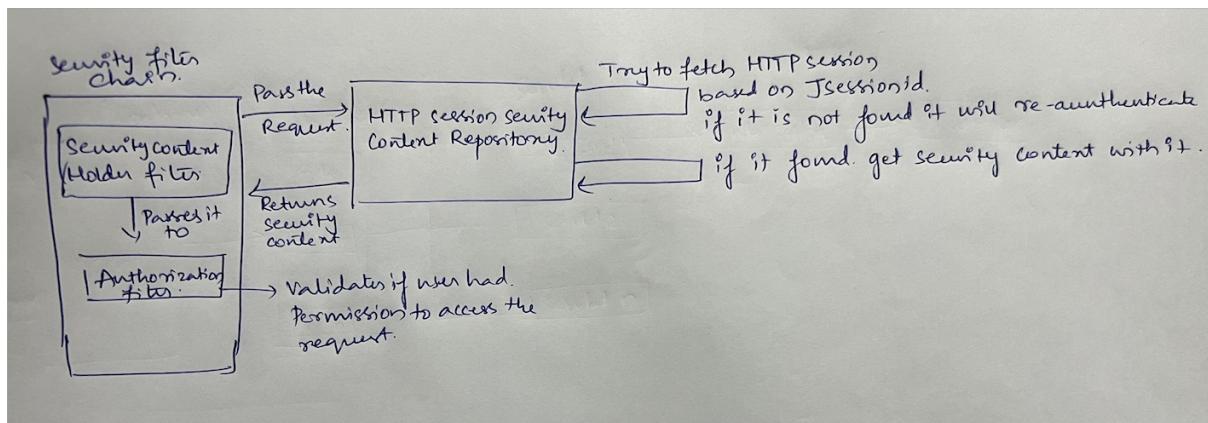

As we are using Spring Security Dependency, there will be a security filter chain added in the Filter chain. So below is the flow of the security filter chain .

This is for the first time login

When the request comes after the login happens

Security context holder filter holds the returned security context in security context holder as the Authenticate object is available for complete lifecycle of the request.
